The Inter-American Tropical Tuna Commission (IATTC) invites applications for the position of Assistant Scientist. This is a full time appointment to work at the headquarters of this international organization, located in La Jolla, California, U.S.A.

The selected applicant will be expected to work as part of the Early Life History Research Group. The duties of the selected applicant may include, among others:

- Analysis of larval and juvenile tuna samples and physical data collected during experiments.
- Analysis of experimental data and database management, and procurement of equipment for the IATTC's Achotines Laboratory in Panama.
- Temporary field assignments to the IATTC's Achotines Laboratory in Panama to assist in ecological experiments with larval and juvenile tunas.
- Other travels as required.
- Contribution to the preparation of scientific publications resulting from experimental studies conducted by the research group.

Selection Criteria

A minimum of Bachelor's degree (BA) in life science, as well as the following skills:

- Knowledge of PC-based databases, particularly MS Access.
- Knowledge of commonly-used biostatistical programs
- Willingness to travel when necessary.
- Good interpersonal skills and experience working as part of a team, as well as working independently.
- Working knowledge of English or Spanish. Fluency in both languages, written and oral, will be considered as an asset.

Salary and Allowances

Commensurate with qualifications, skills and experience. The base salary for an applicant with a BA will be equivalent to an adjusted US Federal pay grade GS-6 level ($45,990 to $53,657/year).

Allowances include annual leave with pay, sick leave with pay, medical, dental and life insurance and a defined contribution pension plan.

Availability

The candidate chosen for the post should be available to report at IATTC headquarters in early May, 2021, or as soon as possible thereafter.

Applications

Applications may be submitted in either English or Spanish and should be sent no later than February 15, 2021 in electronic format to tmusano@iattc.org, or to the following address:
